

PRESS RELEASE

Last week in Essen Germany, the Portugal based, Commercial Investigation and Risk Company W I S International signed a partnership agreement with the international consortium Global Credit Solutions. (GCS)

GCS are an international debt collection and credit risk organisation. Through their partnerships they have offices in 93 countries and employ almost 5000 people between them.

Roy Whitehouse of W I S International said, "Being a member of this organisation now allows us to collect client's debts throughout the world"

All partners normally work on a 'no collect, no fee' basis. This allows the client to be locally represented in the country of the debtor, by local agents who speak the language and know the ways of undertaking such service in their countries.

If the local agent recommends legal action, then this is handled by a local lawyer. The client is responsible for the legal fees, which in most countries is claimed from the debtor.

"The benefits of these services are that the client is not charged large fees in their home country by companies that do not have the infrastructure to operate throughout the world."
